JavaScript Enlightenment Book Review. JavaScript is the programming language for the web. A good deal of the code I used to write using C# in ASP.NET WebForms and ASP.NET MVC on the server has now moved to the client in the form of JavaScript. Front-end development is now becoming a serious development skill and role as it moves from a sprinkling of jQuery here and there for animation and AJAX calls to use of more sophisticated JavaScript MVVM and MVC frameworks, like backbone.js, spine.js, ...
